Philadelphia Eagles

1981 MEDIA GUIDE

Veterans Stadium

Veterans Stadium has been the home of the Eagles since 1971. Known to thousands of Delaware Valley sports fans as "the Vet," the stadium is one of the finest multi-purpose sports facilities in the country.

The Vet is built on a 74-acre site in South Philadelphia in a complex that includes a recreational park, mammoth John F. Kennedy Stadium and the Spectrum indoor arena, home of the Philadelphia Flyers and 76ers.

Veterans Stadium, built at a cost in excess of $50 million, is unmistakably the jewel of the complex. The Eagles, 76ers, and Phillies maintain their executive offices in the stadium and, since last year, it is also the newest permanent home of the Army-Navy game.

The first Eagles' game at the Vet took place on August 16, 1971 when they downed the Buffalo Bills in a pre-season encounter, 34-28. The first championship season win came at the expense of the New York Giants, 23-7, on October 24, 1971.

Previous home fields for the Eagles in Philadelphia have been the Baker Bowl, Shibe Park (Connie Mack Stadium), J.F.K. (Municipal) Stadium, and the University of Pennsylvania's Franklin Field.

In ten previous seasons in Veterans Stadium, the Eagles have compiled a 37-36-1 regular season record, including 7-1 last year. The seating capacity for football is 71,529 and the field is astro-turf, installed in the spring of 1977.

EAGLES' OUTLOOK

The Eagles have experienced many things in the five year tenure of head coach Dick Vermeil, but they've never entered a season as a defending champion, the team that the other 13 members of the NFC will be trying to dethrone. If that prospect worries Vermeil, he doesn't allow it to show.

"I've always believed that if you are a champion, you have a tendency to play like one," he says. "I believe that we will play, week-in and week-out, like a championship football team. Barring injuries, I can't see us taking a drastic drop in performance."

The Eagles will defend their NFC title and seek another Super Bowl appearance with virtually the same cast that helped them to an overall 14-5 (12-4 regular season) record last year. "Championship teams usually don't make too many personnel changes from year to year," Vermeil points out.

Offensively, the Birds scored a club record 384 points last year and a main reason for the production was quarterback Ron Jaworski, who won NFL Player of the Year honors from the Maxwell Club and NFC Player of the Year mention from UPI after throwing for 3,529 yards, 27 touchdowns and only 12 interceptions. Joe Pisarcik proved to be a capable backup and young Rob Hertel also shows promise.

Jaworski's throwing, and a talented set of receivers, helped the Eagles rank as the NFC's top-rated passing offense a year ago. Returning at wide receiver are veteran stalwarts Harold Carmichael and Charles Smith, with Rodney Parker, Scott Fitzkee and Wally Henry in reserve. The tight ends, Keith Kreple and John Spagnola, combined for 48 catches and seven touchdowns last year. LSU product Greg LaFleur, a 3rd round pick, is another possibility.

Wilbert Montgomery keys what should again be a solid running game in 1981. Despite missing four full games and parts of two others last year, Wilbert rushed for 778 yards and eight touchdowns. As a receiver, he led the team with 50 receptions and scored four more TD's. Backing him are Louie Giammona, a four game starter in '80, and quick Billy Campfield, a fine receiver out of the backfield and the team's top kickoff returner. Calvin Murray is a swift 4th round draft choice from Ohio state.

Leroy Harris is expected to open at fullback after starting 15 games and rushing for 537 yards last season. He's likely to be pushed by second year man Perry Harrington, who showed flashes of exceptional ability and averaged 5.2 yards a carry as a rookie spot player. Hubie Oliver from Arizona is a 10th Round draftee, while Mike Hogan and Bob Torrey are other experienced players.

A veteran offensive line features proven Pro Bowl tackles Stan Walters and Jerry Sisemore along with center Guy Morriss, who is playing the best football of his nine-year Eagles career. Young Petey Perot and aging vet Woody Peoples are the returning guards, but ex-Colt Ron Baker and second round draft choice Dean Miraldi will be around to make the situation extremely competitive. Steve Kenney is viewed as a potential starter at either guard or tackle. The backup center, Mark Slater, is a fine long snapper for the punting game. Chuck Comiskey, another center, is a 9th round draftee from Mississippi.

Like all good teams the Eagles boast a solid defense, one that is young enough to be even better in 1981. While most observers credit the excellent corps of linebackers as the key to the unit that allowed an NFL-low 222 points last year, Vermeil points first to the defensive line. "Except for Claude Humphrey, it's a young group and I can't see them doing anything but getting better," he says.

Carl Hairston, the right end, was overlooked in the Pro Bowl balloting last year but shouldn't have been according to Vermeil. Hairston and Dennis "Big-foot" Harrison at left end flank middle guard Charlie Johnson, a starter in the Pro Bowl in each of the past two seasons. Harrison's presence allows the veteran Humphrey to enter the game in pass rushing situations, something he did well enough a year ago to lead the team with 14½ quarterback sacks as the Birds switched frequently to a four man front. First round draft choice Leonard Mitchell is touted as another natural pass rusher, but he may get off to a slow rookie start after foot surgery following the draft.

Other potential subs on the defensive line include middle guard Ken Clarke and defensive ends Lem Burnham and Thomas Brown. Gail Davis is an 11th draft pick at middle guard from Virginia Union.

The linebackers are possibly the best, as a unit, in the NFL with steady John Bunting and spectacular Jerry Robinson on the outside flanking Frank LeMaster and Bill Bergey. Robinson approached the greatness predicted for him in his second season last year while Bergey came back from 1979 knee surgery to lead the team with 119 total tackles. The young subs, led by former starter Reggie Wilkes, all have extensive playing experience. Al Chesley and Ray Phillips round out the veterans with Doak Field, the 7th round draft pick, coming in as a highly regarded prospect from Baylor.

The addition of first round draft pick Roynell Young made the secondary the Eagles' most improved unit last year. Young made most of the all-rookie teams while intercepting four passes, second to the six recorded by free safety Brenard Wilson. The right cornerback, Herman Edwards, had three interceptions and continued to establish himself as one of the NFL's best. Strong safety Randy Logan is another fixture after starting in the past two Pro Bowl games.

Versatile John Sciarra backs up both safeties and Richard Blackmore is the returning reserve at cornerback. Zac Henderson and Steve Wagner split roster time at strong safety last year, but Wagner may be tried at outside linebacker in 1981. Another safety prospect is 12th round draft pick Ray Ellis, a cornerback at Ohio State.

The Eagles' special teams again ranked in the top five in the NFL last year under coach Lynn Stiles. Tony Franklin converted all 48 of his point-after tries, but was only 16 of 31 on field goal attempts. Alan Duncan from Tennessee was drafted on the 7th round to provide placekicking competition. Max Runager, the punter, averaged 39.3 yards and the coverage limited foes to only 6.4 yards per return, third best in the NFL.

The potential to repeat as NFC champions is certainly there, but Vermeil knows the many variables that can make or break a football team. "We may not win as many football games, we may not go to the Super Bowl, but I do think we'll be a better football team," he says. "I can see us not going to the Super Bowl, but I just can't see us going backwards. I can't see us being anything but a very competitive NFC championship caliber football team."

LEONARD H. TOSE

Owner and President

"There was a time when I said if we ever went to the Super Bowl, I'd probably get out," recalled Eagles' owner Leonard Tose last year as his team prepared for their first appearance in football's biggest game. "Now I can see where you might want to do it two or three times."

Through the earlier years of his tenure as the Eagles' chief executive from 1969 to 1975, Tose couldn't help but think of the Super Bowl as an almost impossible dream. Then, in 1976, he hired Dick Vermeil as "my last head coach" and a Super Bowl appearance suddenly didn't seem so farfetched.

While Vermeil built the team on the field, Tose provided the necessary management support, working to solve small problems before they became large ones, and giving the "football people" in the organization the tools they needed to revive a floundering program. His unique contributions were recognized last season when he was named pro football's Man of the Year for 1980 by the respected Football News.

Tose purchased the Eagles for a sum in excess of $16 million in 1969, but he actually supported the team for years before that as a season ticket holder. His interest in football was nurtured quite naturally at the University of Notre Dame, where he was a member of the class of 1937. He has maintained close ties with his alma mater and served on the alumni association board of directors from 1969 to 1972.

After college and service with the Army's military police, Leonard joined the family trucking business begun by his Russian immigrant father, the late Mike Tose, in his hometown of Bridgeport, Pa. He began working for the company as a truck driver and eventually rose to his current position, chairman of the board. While the trucking company and other business interests occupy much of his time, the Eagles and the NFL have remained his primary concern during his 12 years as owner. He currently serves on two important committees within the National Football League's structure, the Management Council and NFL Films.

Tose's philanthropy is well known in Philadelphia. Foremost among the institutions which have benefitted from his generosity is the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia. Former Eagles' player Fred Hill, whose daughter Kim was afflicted with leukemia at the time, began a program called Eagles Fly for Leukemia in 1973. Tose, happy that Hill's teammates rallied to the cause, responded by guaranteeing to absorb all administrative costs of the program and by the 1981 season, over $1.5 million had been generated for the Children's Hospital in an ongoing program.

Tose has also lent his financial and administrative support to the high school football programs in the city of Philadelphia. His personal donation of $79,000 in 1971 helped insure the survival of the sport in the public high school league when monetary problems threatened its existence and in 1975, his contribution helped establish the Philadelphia City All-Star football game to showcase the talents of inner-city players for college coaches and scouts.

Leonard feels a strong kinship with the football fans of Philadelphia who remained loyal to the Eagles for so long. "I feel a responsibility to this city, I always have," he says. "These fans supported us when we were winning two games a year and if you don't have feelings for people like that, what kind of man would you be?"

Away from the pressures of the business and sports worlds, Leonard likes to relax with his wife, Caroline, at their home in Villanova, Pa. Mrs. Tose, the originator of the Eagles' Liberty Bells cheerleaders, also coordinates the Eagles' pre-game and half-time entertainment.

JIM MURRAY

General Manager

Jim Murray may not have been a household name when he was appointed general manager by Eagles' owner Leonard Tose in December of 1974, but in the seven years since then he has played a major role, often behind the scenes, in helping the Birds into Super Bowl contention.

In naming him to his current position five years after he joined the organization as assistant director of public relations, Tose recognized perhaps Murray's greatest quality, his loyalty. "One of the best things I ever did was hire Jimmy," Leonard said last year before Super Bowl XV. "He may not have been what other people wanted, but he had two things that count: Brains, and a sincere concern for people. And what a friend!"

Murray, 43, is a native Philadelphian and a 1960 alumnus of Villanova University. He began his career in sports administration immediately after graduation with the Tidewater Tides of baseball's Sally League.

After a stint of active duty with the Marine Corps Reserve, he returned to baseball as assistant general manager of the Atlanta Crackers, an affiliate of the St. Louis Cardinals. Murray left baseball in 1964 to enter the restaurant business, first in Atlanta and later in Malibu, Cal. Two years later he returned to a sports career as sports information director at Villanova.

Three years later he joined the Eagles' public relations staff and in 1971 he became an administrative assistant. Jim's P.R. background puts him in the company of numerous other NFL executives, including commissioner Pete Rozelle.

During his 12 years with the Eagles, Murray has assumed leadership roles in a number of community projects. He helped establish the very successful Eagles Fly for Leukemia campaign and has helped persuade many of his peers in the NFL to become involved in the unique Ronald McDonald House concept begun in Philadelphia in 1974. McDonald Houses provide temporary residences, at little or no cost, for the families of children undergoing treatment for various illnesses at nearby hospitals.

Jim is also an active supporter of high school football, including the Philadelphia City All-Star game which has helped more than 200 student-athletes receive college scholarship aid since 1975.

In 1979, Murray served as sports chairman of the annual fund-raising drive of the Fellowship Commission of Philadelphia, a human rights organization dedicated to strengthening people-to-people relationships. On a personal level, that is what Murray does almost every day of his life.

"This sport, because of its intensity, makes a team vulnerable to situations that might upset the tempo," he says. "One letdown and you might be out of it. I try to put myself in the shoes of the players, the coaches, the owner and the fans. Sure it's a great deal of pressure, but I also feel that I'm the luckiest guy in the world."

That feeling also extends to his personal life, where Jim and his wife, Diane, are the parents of five children: Karin, 22; Amy, 13; Jimmy Joe, 11; Brian, 10 and John Paul, 2. The Murrays reside in Rosemont, Pa.

DICK VERMEIL

Head Coach

Fourteen men preceded Dick Vermeil as head coach of the Eagles but only one of them, Hall of Famer Earle "Greasy" Neale, managed to guide the Birds to more victories than Vermeil has in just five seasons.

Neale, who coached in Philadelphia between 1941 and 1950, compiled a 66-44-5 overall record and two NFL championships. A few more seasons like last year and Vermeil will jump to the top of the list. His record already stands at 44-38, with 35 of the wins coming during the last three seasons. Only Pittsburgh and Dallas have won more games than Philadelphia in that period of time.

Last year's 14-5 record marked the most victories ever recorded in one season by an Eagles team and the Birds' NFC championship was the first title since the 1960 team won it all. Vermeil is always quick to credit his players and assistant coaches for the Eagles' amazing turnaround over the past five seasons, but it is quite obvious that he is the first and foremost reason for the successes of three consecutive NFC playoff teams. In a word, he is a winner.

Dick was born in Calistoga, Cal. on October 30, 1936 and grew up in that town nestled in the Napa Valley wine country of northern California. His dedication to football began when he starred at quarterback (and in three other sports) at tiny Calistoga High School. In between his scholastic and athletic pursuits, he worked in the auto repair garage operated by his father, Louis. With Louis setting the standards, Dick eventually became a proficient mechanic while developing the work ethic and devotion to excellence that have marked his coaching career.

Vermeil continued to work in the garage while he attended nearby Napa Junior College and then San Jose State, where he played quarterback and later earned a Master's degree in physical education in 1959.

Dick's first head coaching assignment in 1960 took him to Hillsdale High School in San Mateo, Cal. His three teams there compiled a 17-9-1 record through 1962 before he moved on to become backfield coach at San Mateo Junior College in 1963. The following year he became head coach at his alma mater, Napa College, and turned a perennially losing program into an immediate winner with a 7-2 record in his first year there.

In 1965, the major college ranks beckoned for the first time and Dick left Napa to join John Ralston's staff at Stanford, remaining there through 1968 when he resigned to become special teams coach under George Allen with the Los Angeles Rams. He returned to college coaching under Tommy Prothro at UCLA the next year but rejoined the NFL the following season when Prothro was named head coach of the Rams. Dick coached the Los Angeles quarterbacks under Prothro and was retained on the staff when Chuck Knox became head coach in 1973.

Vermeil rose to national prominence during a two-year tenure at UCLA beginning in 1974. His Bruin teams compiled an overall record of 15-5-3, one Pacific-8 Conference title, and an upset of number one-ranked Ohio State in the 1976 Rose Bowl.

It was the good fortune of both Vermeil and the Eagles that team owner Leonard Tose and general manager Jim Murray were watching that Rose Bowl game on television. By the end of the contest, they had penciled in Dick's name at the top of their lengthy list of candidates for the vacant Eagles' head coaching position. On February 8, 1976 he signed a five-year contract (later extended through 1985) to become the Birds' 15th head coach.

Vermeil's first Eagles' squad posted a 4-10 record while the coach established the standards of preparation and effort that have characterized his teams on every level of play. The following year the Birds improved to 5-9 and the foundation was set for a breakthrough season in 1978, when a 9-7 mark was good enough to put them into the NFL playoffs for the first time since 1960. The accomplishment was impressive enough for Vermeil to be named United Press International's 1978 NFC Coach of the Year. He won similar recognition from the Professional Football Writers of America, the Kansas City 101 Club, and the Columbus (Ohio) Touchdown Club for the rebuilding job he had accomplished with a team that had not had a number one or number two draft choice since 1973.

In 1979, with help from a full draft for the first time, Dick directed the Eagles to an 11-5 mark, and a second consecutive playoff appearance. The Birds defeated the Chicago Bears, 27-17, in the wildcard playoff game before being eliminated by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

Even that upset loss couldn't tarnish the gloss of the Eagles' most successful season in 20 years. Vermeil's contribution to the surge was recognized most significantly when his head coaching peers around the league voted him the NFL Coach of the Year in balloting conducted by the Sporting News. He was also named NFL Coach of the Year for 1979 by the Football Digest and NFC Coach of the Year for the second consecutive time by the PFWA and the Kansas City 101 Club.

Last year, the Eagles surpassed even Vermeil's ambitious timetable when they soared to the top of the NFC and eventually into Super Bowl XV with a 20-7 win over Dallas in the NFC championship game after a 31-16 playoff victory over the Minnesota Vikings. Dick won yet another honor when the Washington (D.C.) Touchdown Club named him NFL Coach of the Year for 1980.

Vermeil's reputation as a workaholic is well deserved, but he manages to find time to help a number of worthy causes in the community, most notably the Special Olympics program, the Eagles Fly for Leukemia campaign and the Pennsylvania School for the Deaf. For relaxation, he enjoys hunting, photography and, a carryover from his earlier years, automobiles and auto racing.

Dick has been married for 25 years to the former Carolyn Drake, his high school sweetheart from Calistoga. They are the parents of three children, Richard, 23 and David, 22, both recent college graduates, and daughter Nancy, 20, a student at Penn State. The Vermeils reside in Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Assistant Coach

JOHN BECKER, Running Backs

After a year with the Eagles as a special assistant for research and quality control, John Becker will take to the field this season as coach of the running backs. In that capacity he replaces Billy Joe, who resigned to become head coach at Central (O.) State. Becker, a true professional coach, has been in the profession since his sophomore year in college when he began as an assistant at Crespi Carmelite High School in Encino, Cal. Born in Alexandria, Va. (Feb. 16, 1943), John played prep football at Notre Dame High in Sherman Oaks, Cal. and freshman football at the University of San Diego. He became head coach at Crespi Carmelite by his senior year at Cal State (Northridge) and held that position for five seasons until 1970. That year he became head freshman coach at UCLA before moving on to become offensive coordinator at New Mexico State in 1971. His subsequent collegiate coaching stops included New Mexico (1972-73), Los Angeles Valley College (head coach, 1974-76), and the University of Oregon (1977-79), where he was offensive coordinator. John and his wife, Kathy, are the parents of three teenagers, Kristine, 16; Karen, 15; and John, 13. They make their home in Medford, N.J.

FRED BRUNEY, Defensive Secondary

Fred Bruney, who coached the Eagles' secondary from 1964 through 1968 under Joe Kuharich, has been in Philadelphia again since 1977 after spending the previous eight seasons with the Atlanta Falcons. The 49-year-old Bruney (December 30, 1931) has spent a total of 29 years in professional football as a player and coach. A native of Martin's Ferry, Ohio, Fred starred as a defensive back at Ohio State before graduating in 1953. He was a 3rd round draft choice of Cleveland that year but was traded to San Francisco and played the 1953 season with the 49ers before beginning two years of military duty. He returned to San Francisco in 1956 and subsequently saw action with Pittsburgh (1957), Los Angeles (1958), and the Boston Patriots (1960-62). He was an All-AFL selection in 1960. Boston, his last playing spot, was also his first coaching stop. He tutored the defensive backs there in 1962 and 1963 before coming to Philadelphia. The defensive secondaries he coached at Atlanta consistently ranked with the NFL's best and the Eagles' defensive backs have done the same during the four seasons he has tutored them. In 1980, Bruney's secondary accounted for 16 of the Eagles' 25 pass interceptions. Fred and his wife, Louise, reside in Medford, N.J. They have five children: Chuck, 25; Susan, 17; Lori, 14; Rebecca, 11; and Richard, 9.

MARION CAMPBELL, Defensive Coordinator

The man given the most credit for the extremely effective Eagles' 3-4 defense is Marion Campbell, the defensive coordinator who has been helping to stop opposing offenses since breaking into the NFL as a player in 1954. In his four seasons as the Birds' defensive leader, Campbell's units have given up an average of just 15.5 points a game and last year's defense allowed only 222 points, fewest in the NFL. Developing talented defensive units is nothing new to Campbell, who has gained a solid reputation from his work at Minnesota (1964-66), Los Angeles (1966-68) and Atlanta (1969-76). Marion was the Falcons' head coach from November of 1974 to October of 1976. The 52-year-old native of Chester, S.C. (May 25, 1929) was a three time All-Southeastern Conference choice as a tackle at Georgia and was also selected as the team's most valuable player as a senior before graduating in 1951. He was a 4th round draft choice of the San Francisco 49ers but did not begin his eight-year NFL playing career until 1954 after completing two years of Army service as a lieutenant. He played two years with the 49ers before being traded to the Eagles, where he enjoyed his greatest playing seasons and starred on the Eagles' 1960 NFL title team. Marion was a Sporting News All-Pro choice in 1959 and 1960 and played in the 1960 and 1961 Pro Bowl games. He retired after the 1961 season and began his coaching career in the AFL with two seasons (1962-63) with the Boston Patriots. A talented golfer and avid fisherman, Campbell resides in Medford, N.J. with his wife, June, and their two children, Scott, 19, and Alicia, 16. Scott is a sophomore football player at the University of Georgia.

CHUCK CLAUSEN, Defensive Line

Chuck Clausen has been the Eagles' defensive line coach since 1976 after spending the previous five seasons as the defensive line mentor at Ohio State under Woody Hayes. In five years under his direction the Eagles' pass rush has improved dramatically, tying a club record with 47 quarterback sacks in 1977 and notching 44 last year. Clausen, 41 (June 23, 1940), is a native of Anamosa, Iowa. He was a letterman in football and wrestling at New Mexico before graduating in 1963. From 1963 through 1967 he coached on the high school level while also earning a Master's degree in physical education at San Jose State. He spent the 1968 season at New Mexico Military Institute, then moved up to the college ranks in 1969 at William and Mary under current Kansas City Chiefs' head coach Marv Levy. He remained at that school until 1971 when he left to join the Ohio State staff. The Buckeyes won Big 10 titles in four of his five seasons there as Clausen coached three All-Americans, George Hasenohrl, Pete Cusick and Nick Buonamici. Clausen has played a major role in developing outstanding young Eagles' defensive linemen Carl Hairston, Charlie Johnson and Dennis Harrison into one of the most formidable defensive lines in the NFL. Chuck and his wife, Betsy, reside in Mount Laurel, N.J. with their three children: Cari, 13; Lisa, 11 and Chad, 10.

DICK COURY, Wide Receivers

Dick Coury is one of two Eagles' assistants (Marion Campbell is the other) with head coaching experience on the professional level. He was head coach of the World Football League's Portland Storm in 1974. Dick was born on September 29, 1929 in Athens, Ohio. He played freshman football at Notre Dame before graduating in 1951. After spending 1952 and 1953 with the U.S. Army in Japan, he began his coaching career at Mater Dei High School in Orange County, Cal. He developed consistently outstanding teams at that school until 1965 when he joined the staff at the University of Southern California as defensive coordinator. In 1968 he was named head coach at Cal State (Fullerton), where he remained through 1970. Dick's previous pro experience includes service as a Denver Broncos' assistant from 1971 to 1973 and one year (1975) with the San Diego Chargers. He has coached the Eagles' wide receivers since 1976. Dick and his wife, Bonnie, are the parents of seven children: Mike, 26; Richard, 24;

GEORGE HILL, Linebackers

George Hill is beginning his third year with the Eagles after establishing a solid background on the college level, including eight seasons from 1971 through 1978 as defensive coordinator under Woody Hayes at Ohio State. Hill, 48 (April 28, 1933), is a native of Bay Village, Ohio. He was a lineman at Ohio's Denison University, which he attended after service with the U.S. Navy. George began coaching in 1959 at Findlay (O.) College, returned to Denison from 1960 through 1964 and then spent the 1965 season at Cornell. He was an assistant at Duke from 1966 through 1970 before joining the Ohio State staff. George coached a number of outstanding college players who went on to have successful NFL careers, including Miami's Bob Matheson at Duke, and Ohio State products Randy Gradishar of the Denver Broncos, Rick Middleton of the San Diego Chargers and Bob Brudzinski of the Dolphins. Hill's linebacking unit with the Eagles is among the best in the NFL. George and his wife, Cloyde, reside with their children, Greg, 16, and Tammy, 12, in Mount Laurel, N.J.

ED HUGHES, Offensive Assistant

The Eagles mark the 10th NFL franchise with whom Ed Hughes has worked since beginning his professional coaching career with the Dallas Texans in 1960 after one year as an assistant at his alma mater, the University of Tulsa. Hughes, a native of Buffalo, N.Y. (October 23, 1927), was a defensive back with the Los Angeles Rams (1954-55) and the New York Giants (1956-58) before becoming an aide at Tulsa in 1959. Following a three year stint (1960-62) with the Texans, he made subsequent stops at the Denver Broncos (1963), Washington Redskins (1964-67), San Francisco 49ers (1967-70), Houston Oilers (head coach, 1971), St. Louis Cardinals (1972), Dallas Cowboys (1973-76) and Detroit Lions (1977). As offensive backfield coach of the Cowboys, he was a part of three playoff and one Super Bowl teams. Most recently, he served as offensive coordinator of the New Orleans Saints from 1978 through 1980. Ed and his wife, Nancy, have one son, Jim, and four daughters, Colleen, Madeline, Eileen and Maureen. They will relocate to the Philadelphia area.

KEN IMAN, Offensive Line

Along with Chuck Clausen and Dick Coury, Ken Iman is one of three assistants who joined Dick Verneil's first Eagles' coaching staff in 1976. Iman came into his new career with no prior coaching experience after a stellar 14-year playing career as a center with the Green Bay Packers and Los Angeles Rams. Iman, 42 (February 8, 1939), is a native of St. Louis, Mo. and a 1960 alumnus of Southeast Missouri State College. He joined the Packers after graduation and played in three consecutive NFL championship games (1960, '61 and '62) with them before being traded to Los Angeles for quarterback Zeke Bratkowski in 1964. After missing the '64 season with a broken ankle, Ken went on to start 140 consecutive regular season games between 1965 through 1974. In 1972 his teammates voted him most valuable player honors. He also started in the 1974 NFC championship game. With the Eagles, Iman teams with Jerry Wampfler in coaching the offensive line. Ken is the father of four children, Susan, Karen, Betsy and Robert.

LYNN STILES, Administrative Assistant, Tight Ends and Special Teams

Lynn Stiles wears many different hats for the Eagles, serving as Dick Vermeil's chief administrative aide while coaching the tight ends and coordinating the special teams which again ranked among the best in the NFL in 1980. Stiles was actually among the first coaches hired by Vermeil when he arrived in Philadelphia in 1976 but an opportunity to become head coach at San Jose State interrupted Lynn's first stay with the Eagles before the '76 NFL season began. Stiles, 40 (April 12, 1941), was born in Kermit, Texas but went to high school in Reno, Nev. After a college playing career as an all-Western Athletic Conference guard at the University of Utah and a post-season appearance in the All-American Bowl, Lynn began coaching at his alma mater in 1963 and remained there through 1965. From 1966 to 1970, he was a defensive line coach under Ray Nagel at Iowa before joining the UCLA staff of Pepper Rogers in 1971. Stiles served as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator for the Bruins after Vermeil took over in 1974. As head coach at San Jose State from 1976 through 1978, Lynn guided his teams to an overall 18-16 record and two PCAA championships. He and his wife, Marigene, currently reside in Moorestown, N.J. with their four children: Staci, 14; Shon, 11; Tiffany, 3, and Blake, 1.

JERRY WAMPFLER, Offensive Line and Running Game Coordinator

Jerry Wampfler began his second stint with the Eagles in 1979 after serving as the Birds' defensive line coach under Mike McCormack from 1973 through 1975. Wampfler, 49, was born in New Philadelphia, Ohio on August 7, 1932. Recruited by Woody Hayes, he was a standout offensive tackle at Miami of Ohio from 1951 to 1954. An off-season back injury forced him to miss an NFL tryout as a Los Angeles Rams' draft choice and he turned to a career in coaching at high schools in New Philadelphia, Lancaster and Massillon, Ohio. He undertook his first major college assignment at his alma mater from 1963 through 1965 before becoming an offensive line coach under another Miami alumnus, Ara Parseghian, at Notre Dame. He remained at Notre Dame until 1970 when he was named head coach at Colorado State, a position he held until joining the Eagles in 1973. After his first three years in Philadelphia, Jerry was an assistant coach at Buffalo in 1976 and 1977 and with the New York Giants in 1978. He returned to the Eagles in April of 1979 and teams with Ken Iman to coach the offensive line that helped the Eagles into the Super Bowl last year. Jerry and his wife, Carol, have three children, Nan, Jody and Tad. They reside in Cherry Hill, N.J.

CARL PETERSON, Director of Player Personnel

Carl Peterson, the Eagles' director of player personnel, has served in that position since February of 1978 after spending one season, 1976, as Dick Vermeil's administrative assistant and tight ends coach. Peterson, 38 (May 26, 1943), grew up in southern California where he played football at UCLA and eventually earned a doctorate in 1970. After coaching on the prep and small college levels from 1966 to 1971, he joined the UCLA staff in 1972 and remained there until coming to Philadelphia. Carl deserves a large share of the credit for the Eagles' march to the NFC championship last year. As the man chiefly responsible for the scouting and acquisition of college and pro talent, Peterson and his five man scouting department have recommended the drafting of future Pro Bowlers Wilbert Montgomery and Charlie Johnson in the 6th and 7th rounds, respectively, in 1977; linebacker Reggie Wilkes in 1978; and the NFC defensive rookie of the year in 1979, 1st pick Jerry Robinson. Other standouts acquired during Peterson's tenure include draftees Petey Perot, Roynell Young, Billy Campfield, Dennis Harrison, Tony Franklin and Max Runager; free agents Herman Edwards, Wally Henry, Woody Peoples, Brenard Wilson and John Spagnola and trade additions Claude Humphrey and Leroy Harris. Carl is also responsible for signing all rookie and most veteran players. He resides in Berlin, N.J. with his wife, Belinda, and their 11-year-old daughter, Dawn.

JACKIE GRAVES, Assistant Director of Player Personnel

Jackie Graves is beginning his 9th season with the Eagles and 7th as the club's assistant director of player personnel. His concentrated area of scouting responsibility is the South and Southwest and for that reason he continues to make his home in Houston, Texas. The 55-year-old Graves had a varied football and business background before coming to the Eagles in 1973. A native of Lubbock, Texas, he played football and majored in physical education at Texas College in Tyler. After college he served as an assistant coach at Texas Southern University for nine years and later coached at his alma mater for two seasons. After working in private business from 1961 through 1965, Jackie joined the A. G. Spaulding Co. for five years (1966-70) while scouting part-time for the New England Patriots. He worked for the CEPO scouting combine just prior to joining the Eagles. Jackie and his wife, Willie, are the parents of three children: Roderick, 22; Sheila, 20; and Jackie A., 19.

BILL BAKER, Talent Scout

Bill Baker, who has been with the Eagles for the past six seasons, is the club's primary scout for the Western region of the United States. He joined the organization in 1975 after spending the previous two seasons with the CEPO scouting combine. Baker, 53 (November 26, 1927), is a native of Knoxville, Tenn. He played college football at Tennessee (1947-49) and at Wyoming (1950-51) as a center-linebacker. Bill began coaching in 1952 at Newcastle High School in Wyoming and compiled a 24-2-1 record there through 1954. In 1955 he became head coach at Chadron (Neb.) State College. He remained there through 1961. His 1958 team was undefeated and won Bill Coach of the Year honors in the Nebraska Conference. He moved on to Wyoming as offensive line and kicking coach from 1962 through 1970 and performed the same duties at Arizona in the 1971-72 seasons. Bill and his wife, Marjorie, have a married daughter, Vicky, and two sons, Bill, Jr. and Mike. They reside in Tucson, Ariz.

JIM KATCAVAGE, Talent Scout

Philadelphian Jim Katcavage, who began his grid career at this city's Roman Catholic High School, joined the Eagles' personnel department in 1974 after spending the 18 previous years in the NFL with the New York Giants, first as an all-pro defensive end and later as an assistant coach. A native of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., "Kat" moved to Philadelphia as a youngster with his family. He played as a collegian at the University of Dayton before joining the Giants in 1956 as a 4th round draft choice. His playing career spanned the period from 1956 through 1968, when he starred on one of the great defensive front fours in NFL history. Katcavage became an assistant coach with the New York club in 1969 and remained there in that capacity through 1973. Jim and his wife, Kathy, reside with their two children, Jimmy and Kathleen, in Maple Glen, Pa.

PHIL NERI, Talent Scout

Phil Neri, the youngest member of the Eagles' scouting department, is the club's primary talent evaluator in the Midwestern United States. The 30-year-old Neri (July 13, 1951) is a native of Santa Monica, Cal. He played football at Santa Clara University, where he earned a B.S. degree in business in 1973. Phil was a college teammate of Oakland Raiders' quarterback Dan Pastorini. He spent two seasons (1974-75), as an assistant coach at Notre Dame High School in Sherman Oaks, Cal., then served for two years (1976-77) as a graduate assistant to current Eagles' assistant Lynn Stiles, who was head coach at San Jose State at the time. Neri spent the 1978 season covering the Rocky Mountain region for the BLESTO scouting organization before joining the Eagles. His father, Jerry Neri, is a Philadelphia native and has scouted for the Detroit Lions for the past 11 years. Phil is a bachelor and resides in Los Angeles, Cal.

HERMAN BALL, Personnel Consultant

Although he officially retired and passed along his title of player personnel director to Carl Peterson at the conclusion of the 1977 season, 69-year-old Herman Ball remains an integral part of the Eagles' personnel department. Herman, who served as personnel director since 1969, has been associated with the National Football League in some capacity for the past 37 years. He played guard at Davis-Elkins College in West Virginia from 1932 to 1934 before beginning his coaching career at Ridgeley, W. Va. and Cumberland, Md. on the high school level. In 1943 he joined the staff at the University of Maryland and remained there until 1946 while serving concurrently for two years as a Washington Redskins' assistant. He went on to become head coach of the 'Skins in the 1950-51 seasons. Ball joined the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1955 for one year before spending seven seasons (1956-62) with the Baltimore Colts. He came to the Eagles as an assistant coach in 1964. Herman resides in King of Prussia, Pa. with his wife, Edna.

OTHO DAVIS, Head Athletic Trainer

The Eagles' nationally respected head trainer is 47-year-old Otho Davis, the current executive director of the National Athletic Trainers Association and past president of the Pennsylvania Athletic Trainers Society. A native of Elgin, Texas, Otho holds a B.S. degree in physical education from Lamar Tech (1957) and an M.A. degree from Kent State (1964). He was a trainer and an assistant professor in the department of physical education at Duke University from 1965 until 1971, when he entered the NFL for the first time as associate trainer of the Baltimore Colts. He became head athletic trainer of the Eagles in 1973. In that capacity, he supervises a training and rehabilitative facility that ranks among the best in professional sports. His skills have been recognized by the National Athletic Trainers Association, which named him "Professional Trainer of the Year" for each of the past three seasons and by the Athletic Foundation, which inducted him into the Athletic Trainers Hall of Fame in 1981. Otho resides in Mount Laurel, N.J. with his wife, Joanne, and their four sons: Mark, 24; Harry Duke, 18; Richard, 16 and Tom, 13.

RON O'NEIL, Assistant Athletic Trainer

Ron O'Neil has been an invaluable member of the Eagles' training staff since he joined the club in 1973 at the same time as head trainer Otho Davis. O'Neil, 33, came to the Eagles after a stint as assistant trainer at Northwestern University. In Philadelphia, he has enhanced his reputation as a skilled and dedicated rehabilitation specialist. A native of Clarksburg, W. Va., Ron is a 1969 alumnus of Ball State, where he majored in physical education and biological sciences. He is a certified athletic trainer and assists head trainer Davis in the administration of the National Athletic Trainers Association. He is also the president of the Pennsylvania Athletic Trainers Society. Davis and O'Neil will be assisted for the second straight season by 23-year-old Stan Wong, a native of Fall River, Mass. and a graduate of Northeastern University in Boston. Ron and his wife, Joyce, reside in Tabernacle, N.J. with their sons, Chadd James, 3 and Shaun, 2 and daughter Kara, 1.

VINCENT J. DiSTEFANO, M.D., Team Physician

Dr. Vincent J. DiStefano has served as Eagles' team physician for the past ten seasons. A native of South Philadelphia, he received his undergraduate education at Temple University (A.B. degree in 1959) and his medical training at the Hahnemann College Medical School (M.D. degree in 1963). He served as a physician in the U.S. Navy from 1964 to 1966 and currently specializes in orthopedics at the Paoli (Pa.) Memorial Hospital along with Eagles' orthopedic consultant Dr. Herman Phillips. He is also associated with the Paoli Sports Medicine Clinic and is a member of the American College of Sports Medicine and The American Orthopaedic Society of Sports Medicine.

RUSTY SWEENEY, Equipment Manager

Since 1970, the demanding and responsible position of head equipment manager with the Eagles has been held by Rusty Sweeney. Rusty, 34, was raised in Lake Jackson, Texas and learned his trade as a student equipment manager at Lamar University in Beaumont, Texas. Rusty and his wife, Connie, make their home in Ridley Park, Pa. with their daughter, Kelly Ann, 3 and son, Rushford Lee IV, 1. Sweeney's assistant in the equipment department is Michael Kane, who has been with the club since 1975. Mike resides in Glenolden, Pa. with his wife, Helen and son Michael, 1.

Review of Eagles' 1980 Season

EAGLES 27, DENVER 6

September 7 at Veterans Stadium

The Eagles opened their 48th National Football League season with a solid victory over the highly regarded Denver Broncos at the Vet. The Birds scored their first touchdown of the season on a 56-yard Ron Jaworski to Harold Carmichael pass in the first period and went on to a commanding 20-0 halftime lead. Denver closed to 20-6 but Jaworski put the game out of reach in the last period when he hit John Spagnola, starting at tight end in place of the injured Keith Krepfle, with the first touchdown reception of his short career. The Eagles' defense held the Broncos to 233 total net yards and had interceptions by Jerry Robinson and Brenard Wilson.

EAGLES 42, MINNESOTA 7

September 14 at Metropolitan Stadium

The Birds exploded for a one-sided victory at Bloomington, Minn., their first ever over Minnesota after seven previous tries. The Eagles scored touchdowns on their first two possessions of the game, the second TD coming on Wilbert Montgomery's 72-yard run, and the rout was on. The Vikings made it close at halftime, 14-7, but Philadelphia scored four second half touchdowns, including one on a 45-yard Ron Jaworski to Scott Fitzkee pass. It was Scott's second scoring reception in as many games. Minnesota managed only 207 yards of total offense, including just 32 on the ground. The Eagles ran for 249 and passed for 280.

EAGLES 35, NEW YORK GIANTS 3

September 22 at Veterans Stadium

A national television audience saw the Eagles put on another great offensive and defensive show as they buried the Giants on ABC's Monday Night Football. Joe Danelo's 50-yard field goal in the first period was the Giants' only score as the Birds went on to run off the next 35 points. Ron Jaworski enjoyed his third consecutive brilliant performance.

throwing three touchdown passes and completing 18 of 29 attempts for 240 yards. Wilbert Montgomery caught seven of the passes and scored on a three-yard reception and on a one-yard run. Herman Edwards highlighted the defensive effort with two pass interceptions off of Phil Simms.

ST. LOUIS 24, EAGLES 14

September 28 at Busch Memorial Stadium

An interception and 70-yard touchdown return of a tipped Ron Jaworski pass in the first period set the stage for the upset at St. Louis after three consecutive dominating wins by the Eagles. The Birds tied the score in the second period but the Cardinals edged ahead at halftime, 10-7, and expanded that advantage to 24-7 by early in the fourth period on Ottis Anderson touchdown runs for 14 and 37 yards. Anderson rushed for 151 of the Cardinals' 195 yards as St. Louis became the first team to surpass 100 against the Eagles in 1980. Wilbert Montgomery suffered a hip pointer in the fourth period, the first of three injuries which kept him sidelined for a large part of the season.

October 5 at Veterans Stadium

The Eagles returned to their winning ways at home after being shocked early in the game by a 54-yard touchdown bomb from Joe Theismann to Ricky Thompson. Undeterred, Ron Jaworski hit fullback Leroy Harris with a short pass that Harris turned into a 51-yard TD for the tying score. Roynell Young's first NFL interception and 26-yard return to the Washington 17 set the Eagles up for the go-ahead TD, a three-yard Wilbert Montgomery run late in the second period. Montgomery, playing with a special pad to protect his injured hip, was spelled effectively by Louie Giammona, who rushed for 46 yards and caught a 30-yard pass. The 'Skins were limited to just 97 yards on the ground.

October 12 at Giants Stadium

New York stunned the Birds with a touchdown at the start of the game after recovering an Eagles' fumble at the one-yard line. The Giants took a 13-0 lead in the second period and left the field at halftime with a 16-3 advantage. That was the end of their scoring. The Eagles scored two touchdowns in each of the third and fourth periods, including Perry Harrington's go-ahead 19-yard scoring run, to win their 5th game in six decisions. Louie Giammona, playing in place of the injured Wilbert Montgomery, rushed for 42 yards, scored two TD's and caught four passes for 52 yards. New York was held to 161 yards of total offense.

EAGLES 17, DALLAS 10

October 19 at Veterans Stadium

The Eagles downed Dallas at Veterans Stadium

for the first time since 1973 when Charlie Smith caught a 15-yard touchdown strike from Ron Jaworski with less than five minutes to play in the game and the defense thwarted a final Cowboy drive that had reached the Philadelphia 10-yard line with 1:41 remaining in the game. The Eagles held Dallas to 46 yards on the ground and came up with three key interceptions of Danny White. The biggest pass theft was Charlie Johnson's, whose diving catch of a tipped ball gave the Eagles field position for the winning touchdown at the Dallas 20 with 5:53 remaining in the game. Wilbert Montgomery suffered a knee injury that caused him to miss the next three games.

EAGLES 17, CHICAGO BEARS 14

October 26 at Veterans Stadium

The Eagles were sailing along comfortably with a 14-0 lead before Chicago scored two touchdowns within a three minute span of the third quarter to make for a tense last period. With Ron Jaworski out of action with a concussion and its after effects, Joe Pisarcik came off the bench to guide the Eagles 70 yards to Tony Franklin's winning 18-yard goal with 2:02 remaining in the game. A tying 47-yard field goal attempt by the Bears' Bob Thomas, with nine seconds remaining, fell short and the Eagles had their 4th consecutive win. Instrumental in the victory were the running (79 yards on 19 carries), passing (key 27-yard completion to Keith Krepfle) and receiving (4 for 13 yards, 1 TD) of Louie Giammona.

EAGLES 27, SEATTLE 20

November 2 at the Kingdome

A 15-play, 84-yard drive described by Ron Jaworski as the "best I've seen since I've been with the Eagles" enabled the Birds to score the eventual winning touchdown in the last period and erase a 20-17 Seattle advantage. Seattle had just driven 85 yards to take the lead for the third time in the game before Jaworski hit Billy Campfield with a 5-yard touchdown pass at the end of the picturesque drive. Tony Franklin added insurance points a little while later with a 25-yard field goal. Charlie Smith enjoyed a big day for the Birds, catching five passes for 109 yards and scoring on a 15-yard pass from Jaworski. Wilbert Montgomery again sat out for the Eagles, who managed only 104 yards on the ground.

November 9 at the Superdome

Harold Carmichael's most productive scoring day in his career and Charlie Smith's most prolific receiving day ever helped the Eagles overcome New Orleans leads of 7-0 and 14-7 and hand the Saints their 10th consecutive loss. The Birds took the lead for the first time at 17-14 in the second period on Carmichael's second TD reception of the day, a six-yard toss from Ron Jaworski, then increased that margin to 24-14 after halftime with a 25-yard scoring pass from Jaworski to Carmichael.

The Saints got no closer than 24-21 after that. Jaws threw for over 300 yards (323 on 21 completions in 32 attempts) for the first time ever and helped Smith set career marks for receptions and yardage.

EAGLES 24, WASHINGTON 0

November 16 at R.F.K. Stadium

The Eagles got their first victory at R.F.K.

Stadium in the Dick Vermeil era by shutting out the Redskins, sacking quarterback Joe Theismann three times and picking off three of his passes. Wilbert Montgomery returned to action after a three week hiatus with a knee injury and contributed 50 yards on 12 carries, but the highlight of the game for the Eagles was Jerry Robinson's 59-yard return of a Wilbur Jackson fumble for a touchdown and the Eagles' final score in the third period. The Redskins were held to 218 yards of total offense and rushed for only 81 on 21 tries. In winning at R.F.K., the Eagles achieved one of their primary goals for 1980.

EAGLES 10, OAKLAND 7

November 23, at Veterans Stadium

Tony Franklin's 51-yard field goal in the third period looked like it might account for the final score until Oakland, in customary fashion, exploded early in the last quarter for an 86-yard Jim Plunkett to Cliff Branch touchdown pass. With 6:52 left in the game, the Eagles began their game-winning drive. Ron Jaworski's first down escape from a sack and 43-yard pass to Leroy Harris got the Birds started and seven plays later, Wilbert Montgomery skirted left end for a three-yard TD. The solid Eagles' defense made the 10-7 lead stand up, allowing the Raiders to enter Philadelphia territory only one time on their final two possessions of the game. The Eagles tied a club record with eight sacks of Plunkett, led by Claude Humphrey's three.

SAN DIEGO 22, EAGLES 21

November 30 at San Diego Stadium

A fired-up San Diego Chargers team, playing before a rabid home crowd, jumped out to a 19-0 halftime lead, then held on for the victory despite a furious Eagles' comeback in the second half. Rolf Benirschke's 42-yard field goal was all the Chargers could manage in the second half, but it was enough to account for the final margin of victory. The Eagles drove 80 yards to score their first touchdown in the third period on Wilbert Montgomery's one-yard run. After the San Diego field goal, the Birds tallied again after a Charger fumble on their own 16-yard line and came back late in the fourth period to pull within one on Montgomery's 11-yard TD reception from Ron Jaworski. It was the Eagles' first loss after eight straight wins.

ATLANTA 20, EAGLES 17

December 7 at Veterans Stadium

An uncharacteristically average Eagles' defense and a sputtering offense combined to send the Eagles to defeat for the second game in a row and first time at the Vet in 1980. A 14-3 Eagles' lead late in the second period suddenly became 14-10 at halftime when the Falcons drove 60 yards after intercepting a Ron Jaworski pass in the final 90 seconds of the first half. Atlanta marched 99 yards to take the lead in the third period, then went 73 yards in 58 seconds to set up Tim Mazzetti's game winning 37-yard field goal with seven seconds remaining in the game. Tony Franklin had kicked a 40-yard field goal earlier in the final period to tie the score for the Eagles, who were held to 86-yard rushing. Jaworski was sacked five times.

EAGLES 17, ST. LOUIS 3

December 14 at Veterans Stadium

The Birds avenged their most one-sided defeat of the season by shutting down the St. Louis offense to 125 total net yards. The great Ottis Anderson was held to just 39 yards on 17 carries. A tense first half, which saw the Eagles drive to the St. Louis 12 and 8-yard lines without scoring, ended in a 0-0 stalemate. The Eagles finally tallied on a 9-yard Wilbert Montgomery run after a St. Louis turnover in the middle of the third period. Tony Franklin followed another Cardinal turnover with a 19-yard field goal in the last quarter and the Birds added valuable insurance points for the NFC Eastern Division title chase when Louie Giammona scored on a one-yard run following a pass interference call in favor of Harold Carmichael at the St. Louis 2-yard line with 48 seconds remaining.

DALLAS 35, EAGLES 27

December 21 at Texas Stadium

Dallas won this battle, but not decidedly enough to win the war as the Eagles notched their first NFC Eastern Division title on the basis of net points differential in divisional play. Both teams finished with 12-4 records and a split in the regular season series. Needing a 25 point victory to win the East, the Cowboys jumped out to a 21-0 lead at halftime and increased that advantage to 35-10 early in the fourth period. On the brink of a wild card berth, the Eagles fought back behind Ron Jaworski to score 17 unanswered points in the last ten minutes of the game to clinch their first title in 20 years. Harold Carmichael's NFL record 127 game receiving streak was halted when he suffered a back injury in the second period and was sidelined for all but one play the rest of the contest.

NFC Divisional Playoff Game

EAGLES 31, MINNESOTA 16

January 3 at Veterans Stadium

The Eagles wiped out a 14-0 halftime deficit with Wilbert Montgomery touchdown runs of 8 and 5 yards in the third period, then went on to score 10 more points in the last quarter to advance to the NFC championship game. The Eagles' swarming defense caused and recovered three Minnesota fumbles and intercepted Viking quarterback Tommy Kramer five times after intermission, with cornerbacks Herman Edwards and Roynell Young each recording two. The Minnesota offense was held scoreless over the final two periods, the Vikings getting their only two points after halftime on a safety-sack of Ron Jaworski. Montgomery had a solid 74 yards on 26 carries and added two pass receptions for 26 yards.

NFC Championship Game

EAGLES 20, DALLAS 7

January 11 at Veterans Stadium

With only two healthy wide receivers and a passing game that was hampered by frigid temperatures and blustery winds, the Eagles rode a tremendous defensive effort and Wilbert Montgomery's 194-yard rushing performance to the NFC title. The Birds never trailed after Montgomery's 42-yard scoring burst early in the first period, although Dallas managed a 7-7 tie at halftime after their only long drive of the day in the middle of the second period. The Eagles continued to dominate after intermission as fullback Leroy Harris (10 carries, 60 yards) complemented Montgomery's effort. Dallas managed only 202 yards of total offense and 11 first downs to the Eagles 340 yards and 19 first downs.

SUPER BOWL XV

OAKLAND 27, EAGLES 10

January 25, 1981 at New Orleans Superdome

The Eagles' first Super Bowl appearance was a disappointing one as they fell behind early and could never play the type of football that had made them champions of the National Football Conference. Behind quarterback Jim Plunkett, the game's MVP, the Raiders jumped out to a 14-0 lead in the first period. The first score, a two-yard pass from Plunkett to Cliff Branch, was set up by an Oakland interception and return to the Eagles' 30-yard line with less than two minutes elapsed in the opening period. Plunkett followed late in the period with an 80-yard scoring pass to running back Kenny King. The Eagles trailed by 14-3 at halftime and by 24-3 after three periods before Keith Krepfle scored the only Philadelphia touchdown on an 8-yard pass reception from Ron Jaworski. A first period apparent touchdown loss of 40 yards from Jaworski to Rodney Parker was nullified by an illegal motion penalty against the Eagles. That score, if it had stood, would have made the score 7-7 at the time and might have gotten the Eagles untracked.

The Eagles' Story

A 12-4 record, the most victories ever by an Eagles' team in the regular season, propelled them into the playoffs for the third straight season. In post-season play, the Birds downed Minnesota and Dallas to win the NFC championship and a spot in Super Bowl XV against Oakland, where a 27-10 loss to the Raiders failed to diminish the sparkle of the most successful Eagles' season since 1960. The offense, led by the Maxwell Club's NFL Player of the Year, Ron Jaworski, set club records with 5,766 total yards and 384 points. Harold Carmichael passed Pete Retzlaff to become the most prolific career receiver in the club's history, although his NFL record streak of consecutive games with a pass reception ended at 127 games in the regular season finale against Dallas. The Birds' defense allowed just 222 points in 16 games, lowest total in the NFL. Dick Vermeil was honored by the Washington (D.C.) Touchdown Club as NFL Coach of the Year and Jaworski, Carmichael, nose guard Charlie Johnson and safety Randy Logan were voted into the Pro Bowl. Johnson was also a consensus All-NFL choice. Regular season attendance: home, 557,275, away, 438,237; post-season, 214,630, overall, 1,210,142. New club records were again set in each category.

A second straight winning season and the most victories by a Philadelphia team since 1961 proved that the Birds' wildcard playoff appearance of the previous year was legitimate. An 11-5 regular season record tied the Eagles with Dallas for the best record in the NFC and won them another wildcard appearance, this time against the Chicago Bears with a resultant 27-17 victory. The season ended the next week, however, with a 24-17 loss in an NFC playoff game at Tampa Bay. Individually, halfback Wilbert Montgomery broke his own club record with 1,512 rushing yards, wide receiver Harold Carmichael scored 11 touchdowns among his 52 pass receptions and both played in the Pro Bowl with five other Eagles' teammates, Stan Walters, Jerry Sisemore, Wally Henry, Randy Logan and Charlie Johnson. Dick Vermeil's head coaching peers voted him the NFL Coach of the Year in recognition of the job he and his staff did in Philadelphia. Regular season attendance: home 550,611, away 435,169; overall 985,780. All were new club records.

1978

The Birds enjoyed a winning season for the first time since 1966 when they compiled a 9-7 record in the NFL's initial 16-game regular season. That was good enough to get them into their first post-season playoff action since 1960, but a heartbreaking 14-13 loss to the Atlanta Falcons in the wildcard playoff game ended the season on a down note. The Eagles placed four players in the Pro Bowl game, led by halfback Wilbert Montgomery, who broke Steve Van Buren's 29-year-old club rushing record for a season by running for 1220 yards. Other Pro Bowl players included wide receiver Harold Carmichael, linebacker Bill Bergey and offensive tackle Stan Walters. For his role in leading the Eagles to a winning playoff season, Dick Vermeil was named NFC Coach of the Year by United Press International. Regular season attendance: home 502,956, away 424,310; overall 927,266.

Despite only a slight improvement to a 5-9 record, the Eagles fielded one of the NFL's most impressive defenses. Under coordinator and former player Marion Campbell, the unit gave up only 207 points, setting a club record for least points allowed in a 14-game season and tying a team record with 47 sacks of opposing quarterbacks. The on-the-field leader of the newly-installed 3-4 defense was again inside linebacker Bill Bergey, who won numerous All-Pro and All-NFC honors at season's end and was selected to play in his third Pro Bowl game. An improved offense was engineered by new quarterback Ron Jaworski, who threw 18 touchdown passes and scored five times himself. The more productive offense coupled with the solid defense enabled the Birds to actually outscore their 14 regular season opponents, 220 to 207. Attendance: home 349,506; away 313,783; overall 663,289.

Under first year head coach Dick Vermeil, the Eagles repeated their 1975 record of 4-10 against a schedule that included nine winning teams and the eventual Super Bowl participants, Oakland and Minnesota. The Birds played respectably in almost every game but their inability to score points proved their downfall in most of the setbacks. The team did not score more than 20 points in a game until the finale against the expansion Seattle Seahawks. Rookie Mike Hogan, a 9th round draft choice, was a pleasant surprise. He led the team in rushing with 561 yards despite missing 6½ games with a shoulder injury. Middle linebacker Bill Bergey again anchored the defense, winning unanimous All-NFC recognition and a spot in the Pro Bowl. Bergey led all Eagles' tacklers with 146 initial hits and 113 assists. Attendance: home 392,921; away 386,498; overall 779,419.

Upset losses in the first two games set the stage for a disheartening 4-10 season that included three losses by field goals in the final seconds. Leonard Tose announced that the contract of head coach Mike McCormack would not be renewed for 1976. He and general manager Jim Murray then began an exhaustive search for a new coach that ended with the appointment of 39-year-old Dick Vermeil of UCLA on February 8, 1976. On-the-field highlights for the 1975 Eagles included twin wins over the Washington Redskins for the first time since 1961. Second year wide receiver Charley Smith emerged as a game-breaker and second year linebacker Frank LeMaster was a defensive standout. Tight end Charles Young was selected to play in his third straight Pro Bowl and second year quarterback Mike Boryla, a late substitute in that game, led the NFC to victory with two 4th period touchdown passes. Attendance: home 428,640; away 357,553; overall 786,193.

The Eagles compiled a respectable 7-7 record despite a six-game mid-season losing streak that cost them a legitimate chance at a playoff berth. The Birds rebounded from that slump to win their final three games behind the quarterbacking of rookie Mike Boryla, a spring acquisition from Cincinnati. That team also provided the Eagles with middle linebacker Bill Bergey, who arrived during training camp for two first draft choices and one second choice. Bergey enjoyed All-Pro honors at the end of his first season in Philadelphia and played in the Pro Bowl along with tight end Charley Young, who became the third straight Eagle to win the NFC receiving title. Young caught 63 passes for 696 yards. Owner Leonard Tose named former administrative assistant Jim Murray to the post of general manager at the end of the season. The Eagles regained respectability in the National Football League, just as head coach Mike McCormack promised before the season. The 5-8-1 record was a misleading one since one game was tied by a New York Giants' field goal at the final gun and another was lost by a missed Eagles' field goal as time ran out. Four Eagles were selected to play in the Pro Bowl including quarterback Roman Gabriel, who led the league in four passing categories after being acquired from Los Angeles before the season; league receiving leader Harold Carmichael; tight end Charles Young, the leading pass catching tight end in the NFL; and safety Bill Bradley, who played in his third straight Pro Bowl. Bright spots were few and far between in a 2-11-1 season that had begun optimistically at what was to become the Birds' final training camp at Albright College. Individual honors went to two of the smallest Eagles, Bill Bradley and Harold Jackson. Free safety Bradley was an All-Pro choice after again leading the league with 9 interceptions while wide receiver Jackson won All-NFC honors for his 62 receptions, tops in the NFL. General manager Pete Retzlaff resigned at season's end and the entire coaching staff was released. Mike McCormack was named head coach in January, 1973. Crippling injuries to players like Tom Woodeshick, Bill Bradley and Leroy Keyes helped lead to a disappointing 3-10-1 season for the 1970 Eagles. Hardest hit was the defensive backfield which was almost completely depleted before regular season play began but still featured enough capable replacements to rank second in official league statistics. The overall defense ranked seventh and helped the Birds to a respectable 3-3-1 record over the season's final seven games including a memorable 23-20 upset of the New York Giants at Franklin Field. Veteran tight end Gary Ballman was selected by teammates as Most Valuable Eagle and offensive tackle Wade Key made the NFL's All-Rookie team. Middle linebacker Tim Rossovich, playing all year on an injured ankle, led the defense with 174 combined tackles (85 initial hits, 89 assists). 1969 was totally the year of change for the Eagles. Owner Jerry Wolman sold the team to trucking tycoon Leonard Tose for $16,155,000.00. Tose replaced General Manager-Head Coach Joe Kuharich immediately after the purchase. He named Pete Retzlaff, the former Eagle All-Pro tight end, as his General Manager. Retzlaff then picked Jerry Williams, an ex-Eagle player and Assistant Coach, as the Head Coach. Retzlaff and Tose set right to work trading and reorganizing the entire Eagles organization on and off the field. In trades with the Rams Retzlaff picked up player-coach Irv Cross, Don Chuy, and Joe Carollo for tackle Bob Brown. Fullback Izzy Lang headed west and the Eagles received super receiver Harold Jackson who led the league in pass receiving yardage in his first year with the Eagles. Williams' team finished with a 4-9-1 marker and three Eagles went to the Pro Bowl . . . Tim Rossovich, Dave Lloyd and Harold Jackson. Attendance: home 424,606; away 385,545; overall 810,151.

City of Philadelphia awards architectural contract for new municipal stadium, which was expected to be operative for the 1967 season. However, disagreements arose over the design and the target date was set back to late 1969 by executive architect Hugh A. Stubbins. Eagles were granted 10-year exclusive pro football lease for new facility. Guard Pete Case was sent to New York for Lane Howell, who became regular offensive tackle. Knee injuries knocked QB Norm Snead out of 3 games and DT Floyd Peters out of 5. Tim Brown rushed for 861 yards (3d in NFL) and Pete Retzlaff caught 66 passes (3d in NFL). MEDIA INFORMATION

CREDENTIAL REQUESTS: News media representatives on assignment who have not been issued season press credentials should request single game credentials in advance by writing or calling the Eagles' Public Relations Department, Veterans Stadium, Philadelphia, Pa. 19148 (phone: 215-463-2500). Credentials reserved in advance can be picked up at the Press Gate (not the Will Call Window) two hours before the scheduled kickoff. Members of the media who regularly cover a visiting team should arrange to acquire their credentials through that team's PR department.

PRESS BOXES: The Eagles maintain three press boxes, designated A, B and C on the 4th level of Veterans Stadium. Admission to the press box area is strictly limited to those individuals holding credentials issued by the Eagles' Public Relations Department. No other media identification cards will be honored. Sportscomm and Amfax facilities are located in Press Box A. With the exception of field photographers (see below), all news media should enter the press gate (Spectrum side of stadium) and take the elevator to the 4th level.

TELEPHONES: Game day telephones at an assigned seat can be ordered by calling the Bell Telephone representative at 215-466-2163.

TELEVISION AND RADIO: Network television and visiting radio facilities are located on the 4th level between press boxes A and B. Network TV credentials can be obtained through the network game producer while visiting radio credentials will be issued through the visiting team's PR man unless other arrangements have been made in advance.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Sideline credentials for field photographers are issued by the Eagles' Public Relations Department only. Space limitations make it impossible to accredit freelance photographers who are not on specific assignment by a recognized sports or news publication. Sideline credentials must be reserved at least five days in advance of the game and can be picked up at the press gate. Photographers should take the elevator to the 1st (field) level where special identifying arm bands are issued near the southwest corner off the playing field. Space on the 4th level photo deck is extremely limited and available only on a reserved basis. All field photographers are reminded that they must remain outside the bench areas and behind the broken yellow lines that surround the entire perimeter of the playing field.

LOCKER ROOMS: Admission to the home and visiting locker rooms after a game is determined by each team. There is absolutely no admission to the locker rooms before or during a game.

PRESS CLUB: Admittance to the Press Club before, during and after a game is limited to persons holding game credentials. Absolutely no one else is permitted in the dining area.

THE FRITO-LAY STORY

Philadelphians find favor with a lot of things, but they seem to love three above all else: their families, their sports teams and their pretzels. And because pretzels enjoy such an exalted place in the average Philadelphian's diet, the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia and its nationally renowned cancer treatment and research programs have been the recipients of over $220,000 since 1975.

From little children to senior citizens, nearly everyone in Philadelphia loves pretzels in all of their various shapes and sizes. Frito-Lay, Inc.'s market researchers found that out a few years ago when they discovered that the Delaware Valley's seven million people, while representing only three percent of the nation's population, consumed fully 20 percent of the country's pretzel production. They also found that pretzels and another favorite, potato chips, constituted more than 77 percent of the Philadelphia area's total snack sales. Clearly this was great news for Frito-Lay and eventually for Eagles Fly for Leukemia and the local Children's Hospital.

Armed with their impressive research statistics and with a desire to increase their share of the local market, Frito-Lay officials approached the Eagles in 1975 with an intriguing concept; for each touchdown scored by the team during the '75 season, the company would contribute $500 to Eagles Fly for Leukemia. At that rate, $33,500 was generated for Children's Hospital by the end of the 1975 season. And better days lay ahead for both the hospital and the Eagles.

By 1977, Frito-Lay had revised the contribution system and began to donate $100 for each POINT scored by the Eagles, thus recognizing points after touchdowns, field goals and even safeties in their accounting. That decision meant a total of $68,200 for the '77 and '78 seasons. The 1979 contribution of $51,000 was, up to that time, a new record but one that would soon be bettered.

Dr. Audrey Evans, Director of Oncology, joins Eagles' Linebacker Bill Bergey and Frito-Lay Regional Managers John Squires and Lyle Taylor in greeting two young patients at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia. The facility has received over $220,000 from Frito-Lay since 1975 on the basis of Eagles' season scoring.

Last year, on their way to the NFC championship and Super Bowl XV, the Eagles exploded for a club record 384 points in the regular season, 98 points in the pre-season, and 61 in three post-season contests. All of that scoring amounted to a grand total of $60,500, including the traditional $200 for each point scored in the three confrontations with Dallas, the headquarters city of Frito-Lay, Inc.

The charitable fund raising on behalf of the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia is only one phase of the relationship between the Eagles and Frito-Lay. In recent years, the company has sponsored the team media guide along with team and individual photos for fans, advertised in PRO! magazine, and co-sponsored, with the club, a Frito-Lay day at Veterans Stadium for invited guests from the food trade. The company also provides college scholarship money to deserving players in the annual Philadelphia High School City All-Star Football Game.

It seems that everyone has benefited from the relationship between Frito-Lay and the Eagles. In addition to the tremendously increased product awareness the company has gained for its many products in the Delaware Valley, Frito-Lay's Director of Public Relations, Charles Suscavage, counts two other important intangibles. "We cannot measure on paper the goodwill Frito-Lay has acquired with the trade and consumers, as well as increased salesmen's morale—they're proud to be a part of a company that goes out of its way to help the children of the community," Suscavage says.

Helping children is the obvious key to Frito-Lay's involvement with Eagles Fly for Leukemia. Dr. Audrey Evans, Director of Oncology at Children's Hospital, points to the institution's 12-bed oncology unit on the 6th floor and the 9th floor lab complex as two specific results of the Eagles Fly and Frito-Lay contributions. "We couldn't have done it without them," says Dr. Evans. "Now that these two main projects are completed, I suspect that the money from now on will go to support the bone marrow transplant program. We do about 25 of them a year, and they are very expensive."

Dr. Evans didn't have to say that they are also very necessary. The Eagles and Frito-Lay remain committed to guaranteeing that no child will be denied the procedure because of the expenses involved. For everyone concerned, that is the beauty of the entire program.
